MATERIAL MASTERS

Microki® is a special microfiber, refined with exclusive processes which use non-toxic raw materials.

Microki® products have been developed within the green materials project and are exclusive from Okinawa. They are used for Labels and Trimmings manufacturing.

Microki® products have been developed to offer a considerable alternative to leather, guaranteeing at the same time optimal technical performances.

Microki® products can be washed up to 60 °C, keeping intact all characteristics, also dimensional.

characteristics

With their look absolutely similar to leather, Microki® products represent an ethic and sustainable choice for the people who want to avoid using animal products.

Microki® may be used for the manufacturing of labels and trimmings, fashion accessories and interior design products.

The production process used for the manufacturing of Microki® products guarantees high quality standards, both of service and of environmental respect.

Coming soon a new Microki®. In progress within the green materials project, a new Microki® with even more eco-friendly characteristics is on development, realized with a certified microfiber Oeko Tex® Standard 100 Class I and processed with treatments and safe and certified products.
